

Life with Newt, &c.

For the last few weeks, something strange has been going on. When I make criticisms of Newt, or National Review does, we're called "establishment." Newt is an "outsider," desperately opposed by establishmentarians like me.

Newt, remember, took about $1.5 million from Freddie Mac. I didn't get a dime from Freddie Mac – or Fannie Mae! – although I might have given a few. (Not quite clear on how that works.)

Keep reading this post . . .