

Obama's Green Robber Barons

Had enough of fat-cat Barack Obama, his jet-setting wife, and his multi-millionaire Chicago consigliere/real-estate mogul Valerie Jarrett attacking the "rich"? Well, brace yourself. You'll be hearing much more from the White House about the "wealthy few" who aren't paying their "fair share" as Obama's reelection campaign doubles down on class-war demagoguery.

As usual, there's always a set of immunity charms for the privileged friends and family of the ruling class. When it comes to all the Green Robber Barons who have reaped an obscenely unfair share of billions of tax dollars from the Obama administration, the envy trumpeters will be quieter than a nest of church mice.

Keep reading this post . . .